I didn't have it on, in fact I'm listening to some old Poco before I turn in.(had the CB on tho) I was relating to them against the Browns, from our last conversation.

You guys won? cool! I hate the Bronco's anyway. :)

Most probably an event caused by the Leonid Meteor shower.

3739. Magnum Delta Force distorted SSB modulation when cold.

My radio does not like low temperature. When cold (e.g. less than 50 deg. F), the SSB modulation is bad. Its a sort of brumming noise superimposed on the audio. Strange, if I change to AM or FM, the modulation is good, under same low temperature conditions. So, it seems that the microphone is OK.

What I do now is to heat the radio using a hair drier until the SSB modulation is OK. In a cold room, I need to do this every 15 minutes or so.

Any ideas of what causes this, or how to fix it?

Thanks,

Julian

Sounds like maybe an oscillation. In any event... this sounds like a job that will require a scope and schemetic. I don't see that you have any other choice but to take this one in for repair.

"I get a summons to appear for jury duty.
I did this once before in Philly. Their policy was "One trial or one day" and they wouldn't bother you after that.
I get my ass up on Friday (my day off) at 6am so I could be sure not to get there late and have to go through this ordeal again. Turns out it's a capital

"I get a summons to appear for jury duty.
I did this once before in Philly. Their policy was "One trial or one day" and

they wouldn't bother you after that.
I get my ass up on Friday (my day off) at 6am so I could be sure not to get there late and have to go through this ordeal again. Turns out it's a capital murder trial and is expected to last several weeks. This is not exactly an appealing prospect, so at break, I hustle to a liquor store and snag one of those sample whiskies and gargle it for about 30 seconds or so and use the little bit on the bottom for aftershave. Got my ass out of there in record time. " - Cujo shares a crafty scheme to get out of jury duty and present yourself to the court as an irresponsible drunk all at the same time in <778c47$pv...@newshost.cyberramp.net>.

"I get a summons to appear for jury duty.
I did this once before in Philly. Their policy was "One trial or one day" and they wouldn't bother you after that.
I get my ass up on Friday (my day off) at 6am so I could be sure not to get there late and have to go through this ordeal again. Turns out it's a capital murder trial and is expected to last several weeks. This is not exactly an appealing prospect, so at break, I hustle to a liquor store and snag one of those sample whiskies and gargle it for about 30 seconds or so and use the little bit on the bottom for aftershave. Got my ass out of there in record time. Explain the word Brumming. Is it synonymous with vibrating?

Superimposed or additive?

As a general class ham, I'm in favor of dropping the CW proficienty requirement for HF access. If you like the mode then by all means use it, but if not don't.

It would be far more useful to require more technical knowledge than being able to copy five words / minute. sb106

It would be a very good thing for ham radio to get rid of the code requirement.

HF is the REAL ham radio and it needs more participants.

I hold a general class license and I too would like to see the cw requirement dropped.

It is a pointless requirement that has only hurt the hobby .

HF ham radio should be easier to get into. I am also in favor of a simpler written portion of the testing.
A test that only covers basic rules and regs also safety issues would be appropriate.

If an individual wishes to learn more about the technical aspects of this hobby they will do so on their own.

I hate to puncture anyones balloon, but dropping the code is not going to help bring new or young people into the hobby. Get real!!! In the age of computers and cell phones doing more all the time, do you really think that the younger people are going to spend the time to study to become a ham. I don't think so!!! You people need to come out of your dream world and join the real world. The only thing that is going to happen, is that the people will now upgrade and we still lose, because there won't be any new hams to take their place. You need to stop and look at the big picture and ask your self if the younger people are going to become hams. I have to say it doesn't look too promising. Just my feelings.

I say drop the code but retain the band plan with the allocated sections for cw , so not to take anything away from the people who still want to only use cw. My biggest pet peeve is , be it 5wpm or 20wpm , it is still only ONE MODE of operation.

We aren't tested on packet,echolink, or any other mode to get even a tech license. Like it or not the code is soon to be a dead horse , and the hf bands will never be the same all because no-one knew the code. (yea right)

I will admit that I am old school. I don't want them to do away with code and I am not a member of FIST. I use the code because I really enjoy it. Using the excuse that it is going to ruin the hobby if they don't do away with it is ludicrous. In my opinion, most of the people that support this are the ones that don't want to have to work a little to learn it.

As I have said before, doing away with code is not going to make this hobby grow. The ones that are here, will upgrade and no one to take their place, still makes it a losing situation. Just my thoughts.

I say drop the code and make RF and electrical safety hands-on classes with proper lightning protection and grounding techniques. This is more valuable than any mode of operation test. I say drop the code but replace the code with more important issues I have listed above.

They should consider dropping the code for 10 or 12 meters or both for Technician class, and include 10 & 12 meters in the test that would give them a taste of HF and maybe more of a incentive to upgrade in class. But not drop the code all together.

Thanks..ck

I am in favor of dropping code. It is not used and the CW I do hear is very, very seldom.
With cell phones, text message, computers, email and chat, the radio hobby is dying.
On the other hand, if they do want to allocate another band to CW users only, that's fine too but I feel CW is hurting ham radio usage.
I do think the tests should be reasonable and would require some thought.

I don't think that dropping code will increase the number of operators. If you want it you can have it now. There's enough under the tech licensing to keep you busy for a while if you look around!

I DO believe that dropping code would vastly increase the number of general operators. Good or bad, this is to be debated. I for one (as stated many times before) am for dropping code FOR GENERAL ONLY. If they want to make the test more technical then go ahead. There are too many techs out there who pounded thru code but yet still have no understanding of basic electronics, safety, and.... CODE for that matter. Loose the code and teach them safety and electronics before they kill themselves!

I understand both sides of code debate, but as far as doing away with it just so a person can upgrade to GENERAL CLASS is a bunch of bull.
How about if they do it this way, do away with code for all classes except General Class??? that way to get access to the majority of the HF band you will have to work a little and pass code to get the priviledges. Most of the people that will upgrade to General will stop there and go no farther, because if they keep code for Extra, that is where they will stop. My feelings are, if they are going to drop code, it should be dropped period. My feelings are, get off your lazy butts and learn the code and then you will not have to worry one way or the other.

"I get a summons to appear for jury duty.
I did this once before in Philly. Their policy was "One trial or one day" and they wouldn't bother you after that.
I get my ass up on Friday (my day off) at 6am so I could be sure not to get there late and have to go through this ordeal again. Turns out it's a capital murder trial and is expected to last several weeks. This is not exactly an appealing prospect, so at break, I hustle to a liquor store and snag one of those sample whiskies and gargle it for about 30 seconds or so and use the little bit on the bottom for aftershave. Got my ass out of there in record time. " - Cujo shares a crafty scheme to get out of jury duty and present yourself to the court as an irresponsible drunk all at the same time in

"I get a summons to appear for jury duty.
I did this once before in Philly. Their policy was "One trial or one day" and they wouldn't bother you after that.
I get my ass up on Friday (my day off) at 6am so I could be sure not to get there late and have to go through this ordeal again. Turns out it's a capital murder trial and is expected to last several weeks. This is not exactly an appealing prospect, so at break, I hustle to a liquor store and snag one of those sample whiskies and gargle it for about 30 seconds or so and use the little bit on the bottom for aftershave. Got my ass out of there in record time. " - Cujo shares a crafty scheme to get out of jury duty and present yourself to the court as an irresponsible drunk all at the same time in

"That's all fine... but nobody is going to take anything seriously coming from a twat who brags about how intimidating his Cannibal Corpse shirts are." - CujoDesockpuppet Thread-Killer #453

"I get a summons to appear for jury duty.
I did this once before in Philly. Their policy was "One trial or one day" and they wouldn't bother you after that.
I get my ass up on Friday (my day off) at 6am so I could be sure not to get there late and have to go through this ordeal again. Turns out it's a capital murder trial and is expected to last several weeks. This is not exactly an appealing prospect, so at break, I hustle to a liquor store and snag one of those sample whiskies and gargle it for about 30 seconds or so and use the little bit on the bottom for aftershave. Got my ass out of there in record time. " - Cujo shares a crafty scheme to get out of jury duty and present yourself to the court as an irresponsible drunk all at the same time in <778c47$pv...@newshost.cyberramp.net>.

"I get a summons to appear for jury duty.
I did this once before in Philly. Their policy was "One trial or one day" and they wouldn't bother you after that.
I get my ass up on Friday (my day off) at 6am so I could be sure not to get there late and have to go through this ordeal again. Turns out it's a capital murder trial and is expected to last several weeks. This is not exactly an appealing prospect, so at break, I hustle to a liquor store and snag one of those sample whiskies and gargle it for about 30 seconds or so and use the little bit on the bottom for aftershave. Got my ass out of there in record time. " - Cujo shares a crafty scheme to get out of jury duty and present yourself to the court as an irresponsible drunk all at the same time in

Yeah... the concept was invented by a CB'er friend of mine named Ted who made and sold them direct, through dealers and famous places like Glenn Mfg in Stockton, CA. The makers of the famous big TPL-Glenn RF Amplifiers.

cheers,

Good choice for newsgroup on this. CB'ers like to be illegal. I'm sure some CB'er will buy it up can keep 11 meters sounding shitty and then probably end up dead in a shootout at some shopping mall parking lot somewhere.

Yes, I've heard of this problem before. You're too friggen stupid to own a radio like that, so just throw it in the dumpster before the FCC fines

The distorsion is superimposed on voice, rather than additive. Its like the voice becames modulated and distorted. Reducing the microphone gain does not help. As under the same conditions, the AM or FM modulation is not affected, I wonder whether the SSB modulator has a sensitive component.

Most likely the voltage regulation to the vco is being compromised.

Hello Skipp:

Yeah those things where a blast to use. My good friend 578 who lived in the San Fernando Valley had one and just amazed me to see run up and down the frequencies. Kind of new technology back then.

Talking about amplifiers and such, I got a e-mail from a guy who wants me to repost the story of the old man's "Beast HF Linear Amplifier" that used four each 813 tubes made from many surplus/dumped Collins ART/13 Transmitters. Still looking for it. I have a box of old 1.44 Meg disks to look thru yet.

This Story was even published Woodys World CB Magazine, years ago.

Hope all is well.

Jay in the Mojave

Might not be able to shoot any ship over some of the Holidays, as the ol lady will want the 220 Volt plug for her oven.

3877. Communication with the outside

No I haven't looked at my friend Google or looked for some other possibly relevant group.
I'm looking for a hand held radio that, not a cb, I'm sure, has a range in the neighborhood of 50 miles. Where I hunt there is no cell phone service and it's way too far for hand held cb radio. If I get stck or something happens I might have a long wait. I have a couple of FRS and GMRS multi channel radios that have a max range of 15 miles so it is possible that there is a radio out there now to fit my needs.
Anyone have anything on the subject?

Satellite phone is expensive, but it appears that is what you need.

If it was affecting the VCO then FM wouldn't lock. Up North here we get this problem every so often. It's a cap on the power supply, usually somewhere around the driver or pre-driver. Just get a can of freon from Radio Shaft (if they still sell it) and squirt the caps one by one until you find the bad one and replace it.

You hike in 50 miles? Damn!!! Ever consider hunting in an area where you can drive a truck?

We get lost hunters up here every year. Already had several this season. It's always either a lone hunter or someone that broke off from their hunting buddy. Oddly enough, they are usually found within a couple miles of safety.

If you choose to defy the buddy system then you can rent a sat-phone, but you still need a clear shot at the satellite which isn't always possible in the hills. Even heavy timber and bad weather can screw up your signal.

There's a company (can't remember the name) that makes an emergency beacon that triggers automatically if not reset every 12 hours or so.
That would be my second choice. My first choice is not to go hunting alone.

"I get a summons to appear for jury duty.
I did this once before in Philly. Their policy was "One trial or one day" and they wouldn't bother you after that.
I get my ass up on Friday (my day off) at 6am so I could be sure not to get there late and have to go through this ordeal again. Turns out it's a capital murder trial and is expected to last several weeks. This is not exactly an appealing prospect, so at break, I hustle to a liquor store and snag one of those sample whiskies and gargle it for about 30 seconds or so and use the little bit on the bottom for aftershave. Got my ass out of there in record time. Hi Jay

A small price to pay for a hot meal.

All the best.

Steveo.

No I don't post in uk.radio.amateur. That's someone else trying to steal my fame and glory, and if I ever catch up with that little no-code turd he's going to find out what a cattle prod feels like.

What color horse do you use for transportation? Surely you don't use these newfangled things called cars do you? You know of course, horses make you a better, more skilled driver, right? Cars are for stupid, lazy people, who just want to go somewhere, with no care how it easy it was to get there. And what if there is a gas shortage? The horse can take you to the hospital to save your life for only the cost of some grass. You could die if you were hurt and someone didn't have a horse to save your life. Yes, these stupid car drivers have certainly dumbed down driving. I think everyone should have to spend 5 years riding horses only. No cars. Then, when they can pass a test proving they can shoe a horse proficiently, they can be granted a provisional car driving license, but to keep it, they have to shoe a horse faster each year. And to get a permit for the freeway, they need to shoe at least 25 hoofs a minute.

See the idiocy of your rants, SC?

But how does this work, I mean how one could see whether the cap is defective by spraying it with freon?. Is just squirting the caps one by one, while the TRX is warm, and see which cold cap creates distorsion, or the defective cap will show up in some different way?

Thanks,

She has left Robesin. He eats his excrement turkey alone.

Robesin protests too much.

Robesin is an excrement eating dog.

I'll pass on the sex with amy. Who knows what she's related to.

Robesin has no problems with the flavor of excrement.

It's like this. If you disagree with Robesin, you are a homo, an excrement eater, and a pedo.

Yes, he has.

What??? You've not threatened bricks through windows, slashed tires, nor terrorized wives. Robesin has.

While Robesin makes fun of "short bus" children, he seeks pity for his own severely retarded daughter's passing. I just don't get it.

Thanks to you, Robesin is a mere ghost in the group. Thank you.

Congratulations. Robesin is a mere ghost of the POS he used to be.

What? YOU put a stop to it, Mork? You did no such thing. All you did was show this group what a myopic pain in the ass you really are.

Actually, you're more likely to be the one that should be riding a horse.
It doesn't require you to be smart enough to pass a test in order to ride it.

Hello Steveo:

Hearing Central North Florida, the east cost of Florida. Swinging the beam south and south east just in the noise is Australia and some other island stations, not readable!

Hello Steveo:

Yeah bein ah "Big Strap" ain't easy! It takes work. Well do your best.
And if you ever want to sell the Collins Amp, call me first!

Had a great Thanks Givin here. The neighbors shoot off left over fire works from the 4th of July. Had way too much to eat. Got to talk man talk with the boys, and ignored the women bitch and complain talk, as usual.

I think the best part was when we all watched the top 100 1980 songs, on TV, only the left speaker ain't workin, so pluged in the TV audio to the 100 watt Stereo and man that sound great. Rock on...

I never said any of that, Brain.

What I HAVE said is I wonder if your families know how you act in a public forum.

Do you lie to your wife and kids like you do in here?

> > Stevie Claims a lot of ##### > Agreed. He backs up none of it with documentation.

I have all the "documentation" I need right here when it comes to you two...your own words. Lot's of it. Over and over.

As for my affiliation with MARS, well, you have the dates, callsigns, etc. Any 12 year old who's watched a week's worth of CSI could follow those leads.

But you're the PuppetBoy, Brain...Dutifully mimicking your master's words.

And so far you've been making the not so veiled suggestion that I said all of those as a threat against you, Lennie, or whomever.

It's yet more evidence of your own lying, Burke.

So far you've not made good on substantiating THAT claim.

Do you not see why it's so easy to prove you a liar, Burke?

Do these posts need to wind up in your wife's hands so SOMEone can get you into the help you need to stop your erratic behaviour...?!?!

(Please don't give me any more of that cock-of-the-walk "You better not.." language either, Brain...You need help...lot's of it...)

All that you need prehaps. since you need none at all I am sure you have that but you don't back it up for anyone else. You don't use our own word you make stuff up, or you distort the context, or at best you start assume, and if you were ever a maraine you know what ASSuME means

Now I will never try to stop you from making an ASS of yourself, that I don't. I'll wager he doesn't, since you haven't proven anything.

None even yur membership in Mars, not that I realy doubt it (or care) but you have not proved it, You are too lazy to do that you want him to prove it for you.

Well I know I will not carry your baggage I doubt brain will either

It's not your family's interest, Mark. It's yours.

You need help. Someone needs to get you to it since you won't go on your own.

> > Do you lie to your wife and kids like you do in here?

Sure I do.

Brain insisted that I was never in MARS and know nothing about it.

I made one error as it pertainted to Chief MARS, and he now claims my lack of knowledge on MARS is "vast".

I gave him sepcific dates, times, places, callsigns, even military units of assignment where pertinent.

Then he said, "Oh, I need "DOCUMENTATION".

Whelp, he's got far more information to verify MY claims than any he's ever provided for any claim he's ever made.

As far as I am concerned, the information's been delivered.

> You don't use our own word
> you make stuff up, or you distort the context, or at best you start

Nothing's made up, Mark.

Even YOU have the resources to verify anything I've ever said in this forum except that I won't discuss my combat service in the Corps.
If Lennie and Brain want to subsequently say "it didn't happen", well, they can have fun doing it but they'd still be wrong.

Coming from the "Drafted At Age Eight And They Won't Let Me Resign Colonel In The Chemical Corps..."...?!?!?!

ROTMFFLMMFAO! ! ! ! ! ! ! ! ! ! !

Oh Markie! You're lost in space, alright!

And how silly of ME...Guess 41 year olds don't watch CSI, eh...?!?!

Remember what you said about "assume", Markie...?!?!

No...it's NOT you...You flatter yourself.

The "honor" of being Brain's string puller belongs to another.

Guilt of what?

> > So far you've not made good on substantiating THAT claim.

No, I've not.

However Brain HAS made MY point that he's a pathological liar.

Over and over and over and over and.................

> > Do you not see why it's so easy to prove you a liar, Burke?

> I don't. I'll wager he doesn't, since you haven't proven anything.

Sure I have. Repeatedly.

His suggestion that comments I made about how Internet antagonists like Lennie Anderson have incited people to do the aforementioned violent acts was a "thinly veiled threat" being one of them.

Brain could defend his accusations then, he can't do it now.

Then we can recycle his "ARES is overblown" comments, followed up with reams of reports of how ARES teams are being lauded and the federal government is pouring in $100's of thousands of dollars to support ARES programs.

Let's not forget his "Unlicensed devices play a major role in emergency comms" rant, along with his "I was legal DX from Somalia" stories.

> None even yur membership in Mars, not that I realy doubt it (or care)

> Well I know I will not carry your baggage I doubt brain will either

You're not man enough to carry MY "baggage", Mark, and Brain couldn't find it.

Brain was given information so he could independently verify it.
I am quote sure that even if I got replacemtn copies of old licenses and authorizations, he'd claim them "altered" or other such silliness.

He'd have a hard time calling the folks in the various MARS or USMC offices liars, though.

> > Do these posts need to wind up in your wife's hands so SOMEone can

> And there is a Blackmail threat Steve

It's only blackmail if I stand to gain from the act, Mark.

Brain (and you, for that matter) are in need of definitive care.
Sometimes it takes the insistance of the family to push a person to do what's right.

> > (Please don't give me any more of that cock-of-the-walk "You

Nope.

Sorry, Mark..."cock" does NOT exclusively refer to male genitalia.

Do some research on what "cock-of-the-walk" means.

Adding a space?

What are you talking about?

Guess you ought to look at QRZ and see how my name's spelled,
Mark. Of course I know accuracy and truth are not your strong suits.

You are lying again but which is the lie Stevie, that you carry on this becuase you are a sadist or becuase youcareabout or is it simpleir than that are both a lie

You admit to one error from experence I'd there exist at least 10 errors for every one you admit to

So

You have made lots of stuff Not in position to say what you made up vs what you distorted beyond all reason w.r.t. Brain Idon't eneough about him

A simple lie I don't have those resourses, not without digging for them at best, and to say I might be able to dig out of yoour lies and obfucations the data is being generous in assuimng that your aren't lying win saying I can.

But I digress it is not MY job to prove YOUR Claims. It is not Brain or

Lennies Job either. They are YOUR claims YOU back em up

As your Claims of comabt if memory serves (and it may not) you claims to have served under a General with REALLY big ego problems (to go with a his military skills) MacArther when the Chinesse entered that war, not that I neccesaly believe it that but as I recal that was one of your claims

No you haven't, you have not bothered to prove anything that I can recall in the whole time I have dealt with you. The best you do is try and get overs to carry your freight

They are self eveident when combined with your history of making threats, or murder and of your powers to have someone crimnal prosecuted etc,

One and this is not an atteck on ARES but simple statement of fact, the Govt pours Millions into sewer studing the contents therein. Being Govt funded is NOT eveidence that funded program has merit

Two Hams are certainly overblown inthier beliefs of what they do in the event of disaster. That we have over blown expectation is in some ways helpful three recycling trash that you have already distorted at least is about all you do

Unlicensed devices certainly do and will play a large perhaps even major role

Arnold the Govt and Jessie Ventura and the current Ms Unerverse are not man enough to carry your Baggage Stevie, I wonder if your baggage can be carry by a C-5 Galaxy. No shame in admiting I can't carry your baggage, not do I intend to try

I Suspect you may be right, for once becuase altering them is easy to do, and he (nor I) trust you. Perhaps you begin to see how hard it is to prove something, and will stop claiming that you accomlished this al

but impossible task

Nope, there will be no carrying of Robeson's baggage. His baggage is his own, and if it's too overwhelming for him to carry, that's of his own making. Even the females have to carry their own baggage in the service. Suggest Robeson toughen up a little and do the same, if he's up to it. And quit his whining.

No, I'm not lying.

You need help.

You're a chronic liar and have some very serious personal issues that need professional resolution.

That you even remotely suggest that you have "higher standards" is one of your more laughable and absolutely ludicrous assertions, Mark.

Just wading through the abortion of writing that you dare call English proves it.

You refuse to do those things that would demonstrate that you are doing those things necessary to improve and advance yourself.

Your "standards" are lies and deceit wrapped around ignorance and functional illiteracy.

Then you're certainly at liberty to provide evidence of that claim, Mark...

We'll wait right here and add it to the list of OTHER things you've claimed like a commission in the Armed Forces.

> > I gave him sepcific dates, times, places, callsigns, even military

So indeed.

You and he claim I don't give specifics.

There's proof in this very forum that that assertion is a lie.

Nope.

He wanted specifics. I gave them.

The fact that I did it DOES make it so.

The fact that you and Brain try to make it appear otherwise is laughable.

It's no lie.

You have the resources.

What you DON'T ahve is either the guts to use them OR you really are as ignorant as I have supposed and don't realize that you have them.

There's nothing for ME to "dig out of", Mark.

I've not lied about anything.

And you're right about ONE thing...ME granting that YOU can "do" something >>IS<< being generaous.

I have been in combat. I don't discuss it here.

And EVERY man and woman in uniform serves under a general in their military career from the day they get off the bus at boot camp. (Gee

"Colonel", you didn't KNOW that...?!?!

It's absolutely NOT a "distortion".

You claimed you were drafted.

You claimed you were a field grade officer.

You then claimed you were a company grade officer.

You followed that up by claiming that your "comandig oficer" refused to release you from active duty becasue your MOS was so "critcal"

I did some digging and found...

...nothing. You never served a day in the Armed Forces of the United States as either Enlisted or Officer, Active, Reserve or Guard.

When I bust THAT bubble you tried the "I was using a fake name" routine.

Let's just face it...

Mrs Mark C Morgan is married to a chronic liar.

Huge snip of Markie trash.....

No, Mark...YOU are the "this is a fake name" specialist. (Brain and Lennie are close seconds with numerous screen names or nomme-de-guerre's...)

Stop lying. You're not any good at it.

And who knows...Maybe if we "catch you in the truth" three times in a row I'll have a heart attack and all your problems will be over...But that's not likely so I won't worry about keeping my insurance card handy...

Lie I claim you did not give proof, Brain's claims are his own affair

so above are 2 lies.

One that I claim you did not give specifics

Two that Brain and I ask for the same thing

One your spelling is slipping

Two, It sin't a matter of guts, it is a matter of caring. I don't if served at all. I'd rather beleive you did not, but I suspect you have, you show enough signs of service brain washing something my own mind never took to, thank the gods, that it is likely true

Doug Mac Arthur had enough ego for 10 generals, as well as, being quite a soldier

Never said anything about my "comandig oficer" never had one

And never said anything about refusing to discharge me form ACTIVE duty at all you just assumed it

You wishing it were so doesn't make it true.

The reason that your specifics aren't being accepted is that you have less than a stellar record when it comes to the truth.

So...

Authentic Documentation is required. And two Photo ID's. Got any?

There nothing "secrat" about you, Mark.

You're a known functioanlly illiterate pathological liar who's now

There's absolutely NOTHING funny about seeing an adult act the way you do in public, Mark...Kinda sickening, actually.

Sure it does. To call what you write "English" might be enough to get the real English to start a war over it....

And just "wat" are you wating for me to prrove"...?!?!

You manage to get sentences out there, Mark, no doubt...However it's not without a lot of work and imagination.

I've taken care of 5 year olds with better sentence construction than you.

I don't have to go ANY FARTHER than the chair I am presently reclining in to see EXACTLY what I claimed in the above is true, Mark...You're doing NOTHING to improve yourself.

You refuse to use $10 worth of technology to clean up the "dreck" you insist is "coherent English" here, and you act like a five year old.

> > Your "standards" are lies and deceit wrapped around ignorance and

Nope.

You refuse to fix it. You've been told that your "writing" is crap and that half of what you write is unintelligigble.

The technology exists to fix it. You refuse.

Huh? What? Made what getting where?

> > You and he claim I don't give specifics.

I did give proof. Information that any idiot could follow to logical conclusion.

If I get arrested and the cops say "Where were you at 5PM and I say "Joe's Bar", I don't have to produce a receipt...Just third parties who can corroborate that I was indeed there.

Brain was given MORE than adequate information to answer his questions.

He was just embarrssed to get the answers becasue he knew that I wouldn't give him them knowing that the person on the other end of the line would tell him what I've been saying all along.

> so above are 2 lies.

I did give specifics, so you are the liar.

I bet you and Brain DO ask for the same thing. Just not in public.

When I gave him all the specifics pertaining to his questions.
All he had to do was copy them off and "make the calls".

He didn't do it. He's a coward. Just like you.

Snip what out of context? It was trash in the first place.

And it's "d i s t o r t i o n s", Mark. If you're going to allege a distortion, at least spell THAT right, OK...?!?!

Does it have a search engine?

It's not BS.

It's facts.

"Carry the freight"...??!?! Why? I am an ER Nurse, not a FedEx him for YEARS.....

Hello Steveo:

Are those four each 811 tubes for the Collins 30L-1 Amp? Or did it use 2 each 572B Tubes? No I am thinking of the Yaesu FL-2100B Amp? yeah thats it.

Well look at RF Parts at http://www.rfparts.com

They have a matched quad set of 811 Tubes for a $100.oo American Dollars.

The out fit that I occasionally help out bought a new 3CX3000A7 Tube from them for their Spectrometer. It generates a RF Arc with rock and what not in it and analyzes the color spectrum of the rock for mining.
They won't tell me about the rock make up or anything else, but it doesn't take a rocket scienctists to see where there all digging.

A local guy replaced the 4CX1000 tube out of his Collins 30S1 amp with a 4CX2500 tube still waiting for the results on that one.

How could anyone deduce that from that ridiculously atrocious steaming pile of horseplop?

I have _zero_ patience in trying to scroll through a long-ass, headache-inducing, poorly spelled series of meandering, meaningless diatribes. The illiteracy of that person's blog is appalling. And, don't you get sassy with me, whoever you are. "Bailiff, whack his pee-pee!"

That, and what possible relevance does this merit cross-posting this garbage to a group for Cleveland Browns fans? That's the point, corksmoking zipless wonder.

A bit of a delay, but we're finally heading out Will be scanning the bands for the best DX on eleven or twelve (did I just say that?) meters. Heading straight up 95 and cutting over towards Oxendine country. Gonna see if he wants to meet for a cup of coffee either on my way up or back. Gonna bag me enough venison to feed the dogs through spring. I'm going mobile, keep me moving.

the constition amend 10 restricts anything note covered by the document to states or to the people the supremacy cluase makes the constituion and the traties the supreme law of the land

therfore anything not coevered by the constituion or by treaty is Mine therefore as matter of law the burden is on the resrictin to prove it is needed till 2003 code testing had that ..now it does not have that most persons agreed ONLY the treaty langauge kept the testing in place

why drop it becuase it can not justified as a matter of law

Again the identity theme y'all are ate up with..he tells us to call a number he throws out,,then demands to know who we are prior to calling?

Gee, Geo,,this is lelnad logic.

Ah see there is a lie on your part and of course a normal distortion of the truth,I did say though you have a right to know who is calling you on the telephone is what I said . I see you did the normal twisty hack job.

Ill say it again for you I never demanded anything, I made a statement and stand by it, Yet it is your quote(as seen below) that is a demand, as noted
you ask for his name and when he didn't give in to your demands you call him names. LOL Hypocrite sucks to be you.

Twisty wrote "You were asked who one should ask for when calling and LOL look at you, go back and read, It was you who demanded to know who he was when he didn't answer you you called him a pink muffin, get off the drugs twisty they be really messing with your head.

>when cornered you will do anything to survive

I missed nothing except your demand to know who he was and then your callin him a name when he didn't give in to your demands... LOL I made a statement that your too pussy to give your name if you called him. Now who demanded
what snot nose...

Oh relax chimbrotha, your getting your panties in a bunch. Go back to your long nose suburban, with those big goofy antennas on them and sit in central park, or grenwich village and keydown somemore. Just what Nyc

Hey George W. Busch, why have you chosen chimbuba and sharkie as your you breaking from my twisted church of cb to start your own radio

Well Twist I didn't chose them they chose me, It is sorta like you and Dave
Hall, they too have been caught in many lies, they have no one to blame but themselves. I just merely point them out.

Correct, yes It pointed out his name you are correct no charges against him
, but Twisty said he was Busted, I then asked him why was doug busted for ?
he then stated: Repeater Jamming, and Interference. So I expect to see somewhere that Doug has indeed been giving a warning letter or a NAL
for the violations that Twisty listed. Otherwise he is caught lieing again.

well the first and most recent lie by your queer friend landshark was him
accusing me of being Smokey, did you ask him to provide proof that I am

Smokey? the next lie is chimbubba stating he is not Icecoldnyc. You want proof of more landshark lies, search google his lies have been >well the first and most recent lie by your queer >friend landshark was him accusing me of >being Smokey,

There is a huge difference between setting forth an opinion and lying.
Your communication deficit thing is mind numbing you again. See, when one says 'Oh, You're an idioso..or you;re a lid" or "you're posting as multi-people"..it is one persons belief as to what they "believe"..when one sets forth a direct contradiction from ascertained facts, such as one claiming a cber getting busted IN Philly is the exact same thing as getting busted in SUBURBAN Philly" and such a claim is easily proved,

it is a malicious lie, especially when it's attempted to be perpetuated over and over. There is a difference you know.

>did you ask him to provide proof that I am >Smokey?

No need. The contingency of cbers is aware who they can trust and believe. So far, I have seen many people tell you that you're not credible or to be believed, and I have seen several agree that Davey jr.
is a hypocrite and liar. The only ones supporting y'alls fantastic bullshit is......each other,,the same who are attacking those who out your lies. You do much better minding your own business, Geo...you muddy yourself up something terrible by jumping to lids defense..you end up the same as them..angry,,foulmouthed, and unable to attack a topic without getting personal. It's a communication deficit thing,,really.

> the next lie is chimbubba stating he is not >Icecoldnyc.

I know for certain you have erred in accusing others of being someone they weren't.

>You want proof of more landshark lies, search >google his lies have been reposted many >times over for your viewing pleasure. Old >News

Nah. I haven't seen Shark or Chimbuba attack or retaliate to anyone unprovoked...or lie maliciously. That's behavior beholden to those we expect it from..the angry lids...you can relate, geo.

George, since you like to use the word so much in this thread, please

Who georgie porgie make an error? He could never admit to that possibility. Simply put he has a hard on for me and many others for some reason. He maybe more hung up on ice than me though. What is his agenda? Who knows? A lonely man that needs to go to more of his peephole joints to be less lonely. I have never attacked anyone without being provoked and george is the only one getting some of my anger. He can never prove any of the things he says he just accuses and attacks for his own simple reasons. When you hurt him he starts calling people gay or lately he starts saying negative racial things.
Now how mature is that? Well again I ask what is his real agenda?
Just leave me alone george and go after ice since I believe it is him that you really want.

Yep, freakshow, you have.

According to a 15 year old boy that you tried to sodomize, freakshow.

Just goes to prove the point further - him and his ridiculous posts need to be "totally" ignored. Get these groups back to their purpose - or at least let this goof ball and his stupidity - drop off the face of the earth.
Slow Code hasn't proven a damned thing to say "he" is licensed and to support he has an "inkling" of knowledge at that - for the subject at hand.

Come on folks, SURELY - you've got better things to do than argue with a moron.

Dipipanone is in itself a close relative of methadone. Now people put down methadone but apparently when you shoot it, it's rather good. But the special magic ingredient is cyclizine, which is an antihistamine (officially put in the pills to stop nausea). It causes an amazing flash. When the potential for abuse came to light, the tablets were put on a special licence. There are only 3 drugs on the licence: diamorphine, cocaine, dipipanone but it IS still prescribed in the UK. People wishing to simulate the effect would crush methadone tablets with Valoid or Marezine (OTC motion-sickness pills containing cyclizine) and shoot that. People taking oral methadone apparently still get a hit if they shoot just cyclizine on top of it. There is a lot of research on the internet. Apparently, it boosts all opiates. It's also available on the internet without a prescription. In the US, Ts & blues was the same sort of thing. Tripelennamine in conjunction with Talwin. Then they reformulated Talwin with naloxone so you can't shoot it.
Recent reports say that even humble diphenhydramine (Nyquil) will boost the hit if swallowed 45 minutes beforehand. If you could filter it from those big, bulky tablets then I would bet that a shot of this mixed with H would be just great.
Now, the downside. Some people can 'chip' opiate without trouble, but the longer you chip, the more likely you are to become addicted. If you think that people like Dave Gahan, John Lennon, William S. Burroughs, Miles Davis who didn't die from the stuff, all said it was bad news. Burroughs lived a LONG time but was still on methadone until the day he died.
Heroin is like religion, it gets people at their weakest point, when they feel like there is nowhere else to turn OR they have no self respect.
I will give you all the facts, but having tried it & tried DMT, I would say DMT is better, safer & non-addictive.

Take care.

Would you get the same effect if you took the tablets orally before hitting up with heroin? As you know, I'm very cautious ;-) and would be concerned about what other stuff was in the OTC tablets if I was going to crush them and include with the H.

> I will give you all the facts, but having tried it & tried DMT, I

For some reason have always feared hallucinogenic stuff - always want to be able to tell what is real from what is not. I've never felt very psychologically secure, and had a very bad trip taking strong skunkweed once, which triggered very bad depression.. I've therefore tended to steer clear of psychotropic drugs.

A positive experience that I've had on H, is that when nodding it does bring your dreams much nearer the surface, without having them take over - it's almost like there is a creative stream of conciousness you can tap into when you want. I'm sure that's not a good reason for taking H, and I'm sure as tolerance builds up it would be more difficult to achieve, but at least it is one of the things I'm able to enjoy right now.

Actonskin.

He's done the same thing to my JDWild name on Usenet. When someone proves he's wrong, he goes all alcoholic psycho ballistic and spends his entire life impostering nicks on Usenet because he has nothing else to do with his pathetic existence.

One wonders why Diconal still exists at all. I have seen it four times, my mother-in-law, (not really, she died before we got married) my mother and my brother-in-law. They are all dead, 1977, 1987 and 1992 respectively. They all had cancer and the book says dipianone is unsuitable for palliative care. (Shrugs) And him below.

What I can tell you is that sometime between 1977 and 1982 the little pink darlings were coated with some type of plastic film and are near impossible to IV, certainly not safely. I once took a guy to A&E who had injected 50 over about a week. I have never seen phlebitis like it.
He looked as though he had plunged both arms into a deep fat fryer, they practically glowed red. I had to cannulate a foot and every time we hit a bump a shriek followed and I jest not, I can even remember his name from 1982 (It was the day Prince Charles visited Swansea)

So some fell into my grateful little hands and orally they are quite a pleasant way to watch TV.

Thanks for letting me stroll down memory lane a bit but I really seriously wouldn't give them house room anymore, too much risk for too little joy.

OK, finally made it over to Universal and picked up the November issue of PopComm.

Of course Steve's letter was well written. He left out the homosexual inuendo and excrement eating scenarios. He has one side he presents to the world... but then there's the other side.

Anyhow, lots of words, a sense of urgency. With arms waving and flags flying he mentions "jet training routes" "Missions for America"
"ultimate war fighting capabilities." Very important sounding stuff from Major Steven J Robeson, K4YZ/KTN4GN, as usual.

So what was it all about???

Monitoring CAP FOUO communications.

I recall K4YZ/KTN4GN inviting people to monitor him and he would send an SWL confirmation.

Hi! So much for FOUO.

(What is galass?)
You won't. Just as with learning CW, you have a plethora of excuses that you attempt pass off as "reasons".

Not at all. I am willing to learn how to quote correctly. Once I learn how it is done, I will do it just to please you, Markie.

The same cannot be said concerning your stubborn unwillingness to use a spell check program OR learn CW.
You steadfastly refuse to do either. I am not lazy. You, on the other hand, are.

you logic is fucked, and you can't have it both ways
if I am lazy you are that is the fact

There is no "logic" to your comparison of YOUR laziness to my willingness to learn and adapt. I outshine you in this regard.

Your refusal to use a spell check program is but another exemplification of your unwillingness to adapt and move forward.

Unlike you, Mark, I learned CW because it was part of the procedure to obtain my upgrades. Using a spell check is nothing a third-grader cannot learn in a matter of five minutes.

Round file the excuses, Mark. Your plaintive whining is falling on deaf ears.

BTW...I rather enjoy seeing how you twist matters to suit your outlook on life. You really don't like being told that you are wrong, do you? It clearly upsets you, as evidenced by you resorting to profanity.

That is SO much hokum, Mark. First, I have no need to prove to YOU that I mastered CW. You are a virtual nobody and I owe you nothing. Zero. Zilch. Nada.
Suffice it to say I will be operating on the HF bands wherever and whenever I wish. Fortunately for the rest of us, you cannot do likewise.

Your third grade playground challenge that I should give my real name is yet another mark of bogus Machismo. Besides, you seem to be convinced that I am Lloyd, so I'll leave you to your reverie.
I would think that you of all people would have by now learned the value of remaining anonymous. Were it not for you so boldly posting your name and callsign as you dump on literally EVERY post, it is likely that you would not have received the alleged box full of kiddie porn that you seem to think was sent you by a certain party in West Virginia. Again, we have only YOUR claim that this happened and, for all we know, this is yet another of your wild fabrications and perhaps even a tawdry attempt on your part to disparage someone with whom you do not get along.

No, Markie, my real name and callsign shall not be forthcoming. Not by your childish challenge, anyway. No, I am not "afraid" to do so, I am simply more experienced and have more common sense than you. I'd rather see you as the recipient of spam and magazine subscriptions and whatever else you allege is being mailed you. You asked for it. Better you than me.

Hi Captain, you're responding to the fired Alabama pizza delivery boy Lloyd Davies.(NOVFP) He's been in a mental institution for beating up his own mother after she caught him stealing money from her purse. He has serious mental problems and was also busted for indecent exposure for fucking a pumpkin in public.

Alabama inbred? Perhaps. He even has his very own newsgroup.

alt.cocksucker.lardass.lloyd-davies

Here's a little info on him. He attempts to ruin every group he can, especially the radio hobby groups with his cross posted drivel.

Anybody know a source, or the specs, for this cord?

The pin spacing is more narrow than any aftermarket products I've found.

Thanks for your help!

Wrong again, lowlife Steveo. He's no buddy of mine as you say. Just another in a long line who happens to know what a complete piece of shit jackass you are. If Captain Ozone is that naive not to see it, that's his problem.

The distance from center of one pin to the other is 5/16".

The hole in rear of radio that the plug must fit into is 1/2" across.

Boy that description sound exactly like the power cords used on rechargeable shavers... I had an FM radio that had the same size jack on it, and an old shaver cord works just fine!!

4129. Serial interface

I am looking for a way to interface with the serial interface of my PLL circuit so I can control a CB via a PC. OK before anyone starts complaining that I intend to use this out of band, I dont. I already have a ICOM radio that would let me do this at 100 watts if I so desired. I just want a legal CB that I can control via a computer interface. Basically I am looking for hardware schematics software and software sourcecode. I intentionally did not mention any particular radio or PLL because I am willing to purchase whatever I can find to match whatever interface I can find.

I see you're still using a keyboard to communicate; they've been around since the mid 1800s. Tell me you're not still using a telephone; that was invented circa 1880. Verbal communication? That's been in use for millions of years. Walking upright? A gazillion years.

It's no accident that the most useful things seem to stick around for quite a long time. For many hams, that includes CW.

Let's have a contest: We'll each build a transmitter from scratch for our favorite mode; let's see who can get it built and on the air faster, and collect more QSOs, within say, a week.

Now, just so this is on-topic for .swap: WTB shipboard 500 kHz xmtr, preferably, a Mackay Marine emergency rig.

No 73 for you,
Jeff KH6O

What you just said made me curious, so I hit up WWW.QRZ.COM for "Newport" and there are NONE in 4-land. There's one in Washington, two in five-land, and a handful of 'em in Canton, Ohio. His first post was on Oct 10th about "faggortry."

Nice idea except for one problem. Modification to the radio having to do with the frequency generation section violates the type acceptance of the radio so it becomes non legal for use on 11m. The FCC has just about every base covered in this area. They want radios the public can buy and want to actively discourage any end user modifications to them.

The idea itself sounds simple enough. Replacing the selector switch contacts with a number of reed relays, or optical couplers, driven by a PIC micro would work. PIC micros also have built in serial ports as well. The worst part is writing the software if you don't have any experience doing hardware interfacing.

Some quick links to full documents...

Full statement:
http://www.ofcom.org.uk/consult/condocs/exemption/statement/statement.pdf Latest CB information sheet:
http://www.ofcom.org.uk/radiocomms/ifi/licensing/classes/citizen/information/cbinfosheet.p df Legislation (Statutory Instrument):
http://www.ofcom.org.uk/radiocomms/isu/licence_exempt/regulations/wtexemption1106.pdf

So, from December 8 2006, UK CB users will NOT need a licence.

Some of the PLL circuits use a serial interface for frequency data. I am begining to think this is not practical or at tleast it would take too long to figure out. I was hoping someone had already done that. Time is important for this project. If push comes to shove I can still use the ICOM. 100 watts PEP is only 25 RMS, I doubt if anyone will get their panties in to tight of a knot about that.

why? I am not interested in such a contest.

OTOH I have built a 6m AM unit for myself had loads of fun with it.

I am more interesting in a contest wher e you build the rig and find out something bout the other person(s) frankly that means voice
